

BLUE CRUSH

Somewhere between azure and lapis, the oceanic color cerulean is bound to make waves.

Tremendously tranquil and soothing yet vivid and lively, it is no wonder this pure and picturesque rendition of true blue was favored by impressionists. After all, only cerulean could possibly capture the essence of the sky on an idyllically clear, cloudless day. The cool, crisp hue is classically married with monochromatic shades of blue, including its cousin cobalt, and white. It's unexpectedly coquettish with pops of chartreuse or citrus hues; however, it also finds an earthy harmony with rose and rust tones.

— Christina Spratt Spencer

Clockwise from top left:

Interior Design by Haynes-Roberts, Inc; Photography by Simon Upton
Brunschwig & Fils En Vacances Collection / to the trade / www.karensaks.com
Julian Chichester Elgin Low Cabinet / $14,449 / www.circainteriors.com
Mirror Image Home BW3062 / to the trade / www.highcottonhomecompany.com
John Derian Cerulean Blue Tones Desk Cup / $185 / www.abodehomedesign.com